

In her wildest dreams

She had a man and a home
Two kids of her own
She never thought that she was wrong,
Never thought that she could miss something so strong

She thought that live goes on and time will do it all
But someday her heart seems to fall
Emptiness was lying in loves place
And bitterness was crying off her face

In her wildest dreams she is playing with the fire
In a lake of emptiness dreaming her desire
But someone had turned off the light
Now she is living only in the deepest night

She tried to bond her dreams and hopes
Coulered wishes in caleidoscopes
She never missed a thing at all
But one day her heart came to fall

In her wildest dreams she is playing with the fire
In a lake of emptiness dreaming her desire
But someone had turned off the light
Now she is living only in the deepest night

In the deepest night....

In her wildest dreams she is playing with the fire
In a lake of emptiness dreaming her desire
But someone had turned off the light
Now she is living only in the deepest night

In her wildest dreams she is playing with the fire
In a lake of emptiness dreaming her desire
But someone had turned off the light
Now she is living only in the deepest night

In the deepest night....
